

Several scholarships are available to undergraduate students of all majors in the Department of FSHN.

Willard C. and Alice C. Corbett Scholarship

Students of all majors in FSHN may apply. Dr. John Corbett earned his Ph.D. in dairy technology at the University of Illinois and worked at Dean Foods for 46 years.

Samuel E. Dean Memorial Award

Any undergraduate food science student may apply.

Diageo Scholarship

Preference is given to food science students. Diageo, the world's leading premium drinks business, trades in over 180 markets around the world.

John H. Hetrick Scholarship

Available to all food science majors.

Patricia F. Johnston Memorial Scholarship Fund

Selection is based on financial need and potential success in said field of study. Scholarship will be awarded to an undergraduate in FSHN.

Alexis J. Katsinas Scholarship

Scholarships awarded to junior or senior Hospitality Management students that demonstrate evidence of academic achievement and leadership in the field. Student must have minimum grade point average and be active in the Hospitality Management Association. Alexis J. Katsinas, a well-known restaurateur, set high standards for fine dining in Champaign-Urbana for nearly forty years before passing those responsibilities to his sons.

Kellogg's Company Scholarship

Preference given to food science students. The leading producer of cereal and convenience foods, Kellogg products are marketed globally.

Kraft Foods Human Nutrition Scholarship

Scholarship is available to undergraduate students of all majors in FSHN, however, preference is given to under-represented minorities. Headquartered in Illinois, Kraft provides industry leadership as the most elite food company in the country.

William P. Myers Scholarship

Awarded to students in the Hospitality Management option in FSHN. Recipients selected on financial need first, then academic performance, recommendation from HM advising coordinator, evidence of hospitality-related work experience with letter of recommendation from employer or practical work experience on file, involvement with HM Association, including career goals and interest in the Hospitality Management industry. This scholarship was established by William P. Myers, president of Franchise Management Systems, Inc., Champaign.

National Starch and Chemical Company Scholarship

Available to sophomores and juniors in food science.

Reinbold-Hussong Scholarship

Outstanding FSHN undergraduates majoring in food science, who demonstrate excellence and leadership in the area of food microbiology, should apply. This scholarship is in memory of Dr. George W. Reinbold, Jr. and in honor of Professor Ralph V. Hussong, both major influencers in the food technology industry.

Paul H. Tracy Award

Scholarships will be awarded to students of all majors in FSHN. Paul H. Tracy, a specialist in ice cream and milk production technology, earned his Ph.D. in Dairy Science at the University of Illinois in 1930. He was also a professor at the University in dairy manufacturing.

Swagger Foods Scholarship

Undergraduate students in food science should apply. Swagger Foods supplies the industrial, foodservice and retail markets in the United States and Canada. Tai R. (Terry) Shin received his Master's in Food Science and his Doctorate in Food Science and Human Nutrition from the University of Illinois, Urbana-Champaign. Shin founded Swagger foods Corporation in 1978.

Stewart L. & Frances Tuckey Scholarship

All undergraduate majors in FSHN should apply. Stewart L. Tuckey worked at the University of Illinois, College of Agriculture for more than 44 years, recognizing that scholarship assistance is necessary to attract and retain outstanding students at the university.

Lun Shin Wei Memorial Scholarship

This scholarship will be awarded to a junior in food science and will be renewed for a second year if the recipient maintains a minimum of a 3.0 grade point average and submits a FSHN scholarship application. Dr. Lun-Shin Wei, Professor Emeritus in the Department of FSHN, was internationally recognized as a leader in the field of soybean utilization.